Rumored Sale of the L. & E.

There was an unconfirmed report in the business world this week concerning the sale of the Lexington & Eastern railroad to the C. & O. It is hardly probable that the L. & E. people would sell their property, as it is worth much more than the larger corporation would be willing to pay. Its passenger and freight is immense and the company would hardly consider a proposition such as the C. & O. would make. The territory traversed by the Lexington and Eastern is practically untouched there is an abundance of coal on its line and a good market for it. Long trains loaded with lumber, railroad ties large timbers and other products of the mountain forests are daily hauled by the company. The recent discovery of oil and gas in this territory is destined to make it one of the important lines of the state. A fact not generally known is that on the company's right-of-way in Lee county a good pressure of natural gas was found. It is not one of the big trunk line that get in the papers every day but it does a powerful big business.—Beattyville News.

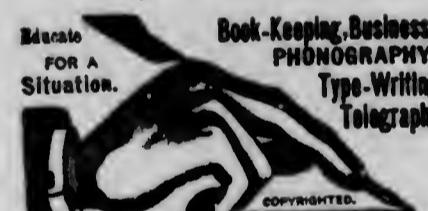

The Kentucky Educational Association at a meeting in Louisville adopted resolutions recommending radical and dangerous changes in the school law of the State which will be by a committee drafted into a bill and presented to the Legislature to be enacted as a law. The law they recommend would be an order upon each school district. It denies each district the right to elect its own trustees, to employ its own teacher, and denies the district the right to buy its own schoolhouse, furniture, fixtures, and etc., and centralizes the whole power in the hands of a paid county board that can employ teachers whether they are satisfactory or not. We believe the patrons of each school district are the best judges of their needs and wants and that the right and privilege to conduct and control their own affairs, should not be taken from them. We do not know it, and have no evidence now to prove it, but it is our opinion that the big publishers of school books, maps, charts and etc., and the manufacturers of schoolhouse furniture, supplies and etc., are behind this scheme. These concerns have dipped their hands into the school laws of every State whenever they could. As a rule it is much easier for those concerns to deal with a county school board than it is with the trustees of each school district, and whether or not they are behind the proposed law they will welcome it, for it will be on their liking.—Paris Gazette.

On the death of a man drinking a pint of beer the Anderson News concluded that he must be in hold of some of the drink. This is a true statement. In this City we find an average of Anderson county men for the last thirty years yet enjoying good health. The News figures that in that time the man has consumed 12,775 quarts which would give him 255,500 separate drinks, and would have cost him if bought over the bar the neat sum of $25,500. The News vouches for the truth in this story but withholds the name of the individual.

The farmers of Kentucky have not as yet presented to the Legislature any bill which has for its purpose the protection of sheep and the other stock from the ravages of dogs. The State needs a law to protect the sheep industry especially. Sheep breeding and raising have been profitable in all of the States of this country where the stock has been protected by simple safeguard measures and where not in Kentucky, where the climate and the natural resources are of such nature that the poorest farmer in the state may raise a small flock without expense and with profit? The dog however is in the way of the small breeder who cannot house his flock at night. The Legislature should protect the property of the people of the state from ravage by dogs and in no way can that body render a greater service to the farmers, large and small than by passing a law which will give them immunity for their property from the ravages of animals which give neither protection nor profit to their owners.—Covington Daily Press.

Teaching the young idea of lynch is the latest fad in Kentucky where a mob lynched a negro in the yard of a high school.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

Gentlemen: — Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation would help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement, according to a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noise ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain
